Amo Abundance is a new approach to an old problem: accumulating wealth. Along with family and romantic relationships, money can carry some pretty heavy energy, and it most often comes from family and romantic relationships. That energy also comes from us and the emotions we associate with the monetary values of exchange we use to purchase the goods and services we desire. Cash, jewels, clams, or anything used to purchase things is only a vehicle, yet we associate so many things, quite a lot that are negative, to that vehicle that we carry around in our wallets and purses. We stress over it, fight over, worry about it, love it, and hate it. But the funny thing is... it's just money. The reason you struggle with money is that your programming is keeping it from you. Ever wonder why the bills keep piling up? Or why when the clouds are clearing and the blue sky is shining over you, you get hit with another 'life' event? You've programmed yourself since birth. Yes, YOU. You are where you are with money because of that programming. If you want to change your stars and live the life you desire, you have to clear it. I tried for 45 years. This is how I did it. And since I tried and banged my head against walls, sidewalks, and moving vehicles, my troubles are now your solutions. The techniques in this book will change your life if you apply them. They will clear your path. They'll light your life on fire and help you rid yourself of the burden you've been carrying. Luce Irigaray: Teaching explores ways to confront new issues in education. Three essays by Irigaray herself present the outcomes of her own experiments in this area and develop proposals for teaching people how to coexist in difference, reach self-affection, and rethink the relations between teachers and students. In the last few years, Irigaray has brought together young academics from various countries, universities and disciplines, all of whom were carrying out research into her work. These research students have received personal instruction from Irigaray and at the same time have learnt from one another by sharing with the group their own knowledge and experience. Most of the essays in this book are the result of this dynamic way of learning that fosters rigour in thinking as well as mutual respect for differences. The central themes of the volume focus on five cultural fields: methods of recovery from traumatic personal or cultural experience; the resources that arts offer for dwelling in oneself and with the other(s); the maternal order and feminine genealogy; creative interpretation and embodiment of the divine; and new perspectives in philosophy. This innovative collaborative project between Irigaray and researchers involved in the study of her work gives a unique insight into the topics that have occupied this influential international theorist over the last thirty years.
