VMware View Virtual desktop pools is a collection of desktops that users select when they log in using the View client. A pool can be created based on a subset of users, such as finance or HR, but this is not explicitly required unless you will be deploying multiple Virtual Desktop master images.

Is anyone aware of any vMotion restrictions when it comes to running VDI desktops in Horizon View 6? There is a standing theory at my job that if you vMotion all VDI guests (and any replicas) off a host to put a host into maintenance mode for patching that you have to put all the VDI guests back to that host to keep Horizon View "happy" especially when it comes time to recompose.
